THE T’RUAH ISRAEL FELLOWSHIP: GO DEEPER

2016-2017 students in the Bedouin village of Umm Al-Hiran, threatened with demolition, where they planted trees for Tu BiShvat.

RABBINICAL AND CANTORIAL STUDENTS:
• Spend your year in Israel diving into human rights and developing your rabbinic moral voice.
• Join a pluralistic cohort of six fellows in monthly study evenings.
• Build your skills as a religious leader for human rights.
• Help facilitate tiyyulim and evening programs for your classmates.

TOPICS VARY FROM YEAR TO YEAR. EXAMPLES INCLUDE:
• Visiting an Israeli military court to learn about the legal system for Palestinians in the West Bank.
• Practicing how to lead a hard conversation about Israel.
• Meeting with Palestinian-Israeli leaders and activists to better understand their approaches to being citizens of Israel.
• Learning from Israeli rabbis about how they use their rabbinic voices for human rights.

“T’ruah Fellowship provided me with a unique and important opportunity to deepen my learning during my year in Israel. The fellowship cohort was an important space for me to process my personal experiences and evolving relationship to Israel while also helping me develop a more robust sense of the role I play as a rabbinic voice in shaping discourse around human rights issues in Israel and Palestine.”

—ARI WITKIN, Reconstructionist Rabbinical College; Fellow 2016-2017

FELLOWS RECEIVE A $750 STIPEND.

Queer people and people of color are encouraged to apply.

DEADLINES:
• Applications due Thursday, May 6.
• Interviews by Zoom the weeks of May 10 and 17.

Questions?
Contact Rabbi Lev Meirowitz Nelson at LMNelson@truah.org.

More details and online application at www.truah.org/israelfellows.